Dear Dr. Tucker:

Certainly a brief letter cannot communicate all that I would like to express to you as you leave the position of dean of instruction of East Central Community College. The thoughts and memories that span our thirty (30) years of association could occupy volumes.

No one else but me has been a student under your supervision, a fellow dean of instruction, and then a president with you as dean at the institution from which we both graduated! I can assure you that I was the one who benefited in all of these relationships.

Brad, I'll never forget the help and direction you gave me as a student. You were the authority figure I needed while at ECJC.

Then, you greatly assisted me so many times during my tenure as a dean. I had a great mentor!

To come to East Central as president with you as dean of instruction was, indeed, a great blessing for me. You have helped me beyond measure. And, you have been kind, supportive, and patient even in difficult times.

Certainly I, personally, regret that you'll be leaving us. But, such regret is only selfish on my part. I hope that you will have many, many years of enjoyable retirement. Nobody deserves it more!

Though I won't be seeing you on a daily basis, you'll always be that "Dean of Deans" who helped a poor, unlearned kid from Winston County make "a little something" out of his life.

God bless.

Sincerely,

Eddie M. Smith
President

Dr. Brad Tucker
Dean of Instruction
East Central Community College
Decatur, MS 39327

Dear Dr. Tucker:

East Central Community College has been greatly enriched by your presence for more than forty years. Our college is ranked among the best (in my opinion, the best) anywhere in the nation. As Dean of Instruction, your many contributions to this institution have contributed to its success. East Central has always looked and depended on you for your wisdom, your intelligence, and your positive attitude. I cease to be amazed by the many talents that you possess.

As the search continues for the new Dean of Instruction, I'm sure the committee keeps asking themselves, "Where is another Brad Tucker?" If they were to ask me this question, I have the answer. There is no other Brad Tucker!!

As chairman and on the behalf of the Board of Trustees, I want to thank you for your dedication and many years of service to this great institution.

Words cannot express what your friendship means to me. Faye and I want to congratulate you and Mary on having the Vocational Complex named in your honor. I am looking forward to participating in this dedication.

I hope your retirement is as wonderful, as it should be.

With warmest personal regards,

Bubba Hudspeth

Dear Brad:

I am honored to have this opportunity to express my joy in joining your many friends in the celebration of your retirement. Ruth and I hope that we can be present on this memorable occasion.

We recall with great pleasure having been with you during your early years at East Central and observing the dedication and effectiveness of the work that resulted in your rise to Mississippi's premier college dean.

We are indebted to you for the masterful job which you have done in planning the Homecoming and other Activities for the past several years.

We hope that you will enjoy your retirement as much as we have.

Yours Sincerely,

Dear Dr. Tucker:

It is with mixed emotions that I write you today to congratulate you on your retirement from East Central Community College. Your dedicated and outstanding leadership will be greatly missed by the College, your community, and the State of Mississippi.

I deeply regret that I am unable to attend the dinner in your honor on Saturday, April 11, 1991, and share this very special occasion with you.

This period of your life is indeed a time of reflection upon your vast accomplishments during the span of your forty years at East Central Community College. Serving in the position of dean longer than any of the present college and university deans in the State of Mississippi is certainly an achievement to be proud of.

May God richly bless you as you embark on a new horizon in your life.

Yours most sincerely,

Dear Dr. Tucker:

I was recently informed that you will be retiring as the Dean of Instruction at East Central Community College on May 17, 1991.

After serving in your position for thirty years, longer than any of the present college and university deans in the State of Mississippi, it is most fitting that you are being honored by your friends and associates at East Central Community College. Please allow me to commend you for your faithful and genuine service to your students, colleagues and community through the years. Today, East Central is an outstanding institution because of your vision and dedication.

It is an understatement to say that the college will miss your leadership; however, the influence that you had on the school will be remembered for ages to come.

Congratulations on your retirement--enjoy it to the fullest. If I or my staff can ever be of assistance to you, please do not hesitate to let us know.

Dr. Bradford J. Tucker
Dean of Instruction
East Central Community College
Decatur, Mississippi 39327

Dear Dr. Tucker:

I consider myself very fortunate to have attended East Central Community College because of the academic rigor which was practiced there by the instructional staff. I can recall, with both pleasure and satisfaction, the broad intellectual challenges posed in classroom lectures and subsequent discussion as well as the personal commitments of the staff to assist students individually in their studies, encouraging us to think critically and pursue scholarly interests.

In the intervening years, I have continued to observe this commitment to excellence in teaching by East Central Community College, a commitment which has remained in place despite growing demands on the college's resources and a dwindling financial base from which to operate. Certainly, your leadership as dean of instruction has been central to these practices.

Your insistence on quality -- whether in program design, instructional effectiveness or student performance -- has been a valuable asset to the college and to the students who have relied on the school for their grounding in academic life. I am both personally and professionally appreciative that such standards were set and have continued in place. The challenge to the college, upon your departure, will be to maintain these levels of expectation.

East Central Community College has been distinguished by your service and, of ultimate and lasting importance, students over the past thirty years have been exposed to the pleasures and possibilities which derive from serious academic inquiry, both circumstances resulting from your guidance as dean of instruction.

Sincerely,

On this very special occasion in your honor, I would like to congratulate you on your retirement. As one who has always been a strong supporter of public education while serving as a city councilman, a state senator, and now as a Member of Congress, I especially appreciate your contributions to education.

Educators such as yourself, through hard work and selfless dedication, have made a great impact on our state. Through your example, our educational institutions will continue to make progress in educating the citizens of our state. In turn, we can keep our young people at home in Mississippi and create the quality of life that Mississippians deserve.

I would like to join many others in expressing my sincere gratitude for your contributions to East Central Community College and the state as a whole. You have made a mark in public education that will stand as a monument for many years to come.

Dear Dr. Tucker,

On May 17, 1991, you are retiring as Dean of Instruction at East Central Community College. You have held this position longer than any of the present deans in the state of Mississippi. Know that I am proud of you because of this milestone and because of all that you have seen happen with ECCC in you forty plus years. Momma and I both know the amount of time, energy and devotion that have put you and East Central where you are today. We are proud of each of your accomplishments because we know how hard you have strived to do the best for your family, your community and ECCC. However, never think for a moment that your work at ECCC is the only reason you are being congratulated with this letter.

For thirty-seven years, ECJC (as it will always be that to me) has been a part of my life. Some of my best memories are of the dairy farm and your agricultural days. I must have stopped by your office just about every day after school and you were always glad to see me and took a few minutes for me. I remember with wonderful thoughts every place we lived on campus- from the dorm to next to the tennis courts to by the Baptist Church. All those buildings are gone now and EC has moved on with progress. Many of those progressive efforts are due in part to you. We have watched you register students until late at night, spend hours talking with "problems" trying to keep them in school and we've seen you spend many nights working on federal grants, handbooks, etc.

We are proud of you especially for what you mean to us. We are excited about your retirement, especially the grandchildren, and look forward to more time together.

I can envision your retirement as dean but I have difficulty imagining you retired from ECCC. We will see.

Today nobody is more proud of you or loves you more than my mother and me, your daughter. Steve, Sarah, Michael, "Thumper" and I wish you the best as always!

Love,
Beth

Dear Dr. Tucker:

Congratulations on a well-earned retirement! Your many years of service to education has brought you honor and recognition at East Central Community College and in the State of Mississippi.

Although the pace of retirement will be somewhat slower than you have been accustomed to, I am sure that you will enjoy these retirement years as much as you have enjoyed your work in the past.

All of us at Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College wish you a long and happy retirement.

Dear Dr. Tucker:

On the eve of your retirement, let me congratulate you for your faithful service to the State of Mississippi. Your teaching and administrative career have touched the lives of hundreds of young people. As president of Mississippi State University, I am extremely proud that you hold three degrees from this institution. We are honored to claim you as an alumnus. I know you are looking forward to many new experiences in your well deserved retirement years.

Again, thank you for all you have done for education in the State of Mississippi.

Dear Brad:

Congratulations on your years of service in education and best wishes upon your retirement. Your thirty years as dean is a record that I am sure will be unmatched for years to come. The other deans consider you to be "the Dean of Deans". However, the length of employment is not as important as the contributions you made during your tenure. It was my pleasure to work with you for fifteen years while I served as Dean at Northeast. I also remember you prior to that time when we were both agriculture teachers.

One of the contributions in which you may take pride is the adoption of the uniform course numbering system. You served as chairperson of that committee, and the system adopted is one that is unique and innovative in the United States.

We know that you have been too productive to spend all your retirement time in leisure activities and loafing. But at least you can be selective and do the things that are enjoyable. I wish for both you and Mary the very best that life has to offer.

Dear Dr. Tucker:

Please allow me this opportunity to express to you my personal and professional appreciation for the innumerable contributions that you have made to so many thousands of people across the years.

One of the most important and significant gifts that a man can give to his fellow man is to influence, to the good, the quality of their lives. I think that you have succeeded admirably in this regard, and the many thousands of students, who have had an opportunity to benefit from the sense of direction that you have set through your supervision of instructional program activity, are living testimony to your contribution. A program of studies at the community college level is only successful to the extent that we have assurance of quality; this, to me, has probably been one reason for the success of your programs and students, that you maintained a constant vigilance as to the quality and integrity of the programs under your supervision.

I know that I join many, many others in wishing you the very best as you pursue some additional, and, hopefully, less weighty, interests, but I am keenly aware of the fact that you will always have in your heart a deep and abiding respect and concern for what takes place at East Central Community College. My best wishes go with you at this time in your life, and I know that we will continue (at least, I hope we will) to benefit from your presence and contributions as you see fit to associate with us from time to time as we get together to pursue professional and other interests.

Good luck to you. We will miss you.

Dear Brad:

I am pleased to join with your many friends in congratulating you on your retirement from East Central Community College. Your many years of faithful service as a high school teacher and community college faculty member, and long time Dean of Instruction, attest to your dedication and professionalism in your chosen field of work. It was a real pleasure for me to work with you while we both served as Deans some years ago. As this fine relationship has continued through the years, I have always had a great admiration for your integrity, your professional attitude, loyalty to your institution, pride in and support of the entire community and junior college system here in Mississippi. I am certain that East Central Community College and the entire Mississippi system is much better prepared to serve the two year college students of Mississippi because of your many contributions to this system. I know that you will continue to remain interested in the community and junior college program and we covet your continued interest and support.

Dear Brad:

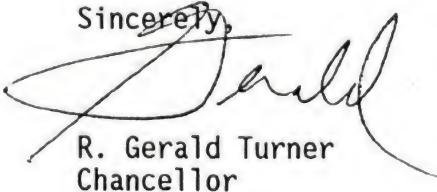

It is with a great deal of pleasure that I join your other friends and colleagues in congratulating you on a job well done and in wishing you the utmost happiness in your retirement years.

When I assumed my duties as Chancellor of the University in 1984, one of my initial goals was to ensure that Ole Miss has a good working relationship with the state's community colleges, that students transferring from our community colleges have no articulation problems, and that the University makes every effort to attract community college graduates to our programs. I quickly learned that I needed only to be concerned with the latter. I also learned that much of the credit for good community college-senior college relations and lack of articulation problems should go to you and the leadership you have provided in the Community College Deans' Association. Establishment of definitive articulation agreements with each of the state's senior institutions, development and publication of the Community College Uniform Course Numbering System, and most recently the development of two-year core curricula for programs offered by our various institutions are a few of the things that can be attributed to your leadership.

You should take a great deal of pride in the quality of education that the faculty at East Central Community College under your leadership have provided students over the years. In observing the successes of your students who transfer to us and in watching the excellent Scholars Bowl teams you send to our campus each year, I am aware that the education students receive at East Central Community College is excellent.

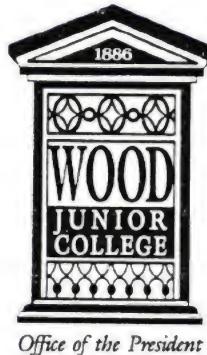

I sincerely appreciate your cooperation and the efforts you have made on behalf of the University and the students who transfer to us from your institution. Best wishes on a long and happy retirement.

Sincerely,

Dear Brad,

I take this opportunity to congratulate you on a distinguished career as an educator and particularly as a community college dean. I certainly wish you the very best as you open a new door in your life. I've heard many characterizations of "retirement" and am certainly not clear on the meaning of this word, but I am sure that retirement for you will mean an opportunity to take your qualities of leadership and understanding of life into a new arena. I'm sure that you will enrich the lives of those behind that new door just as you have enriched the educational lives of your fellow deans for many years.

I have truly enjoyed working with you in the Deans Association and in all other shared experiences over the past 16 years. I have always considered you to be the "Dean of Deans" and have appreciated the opportunity to learn from you as we worked together in our respective positions.

Brad, you've touched the lives of many students and associates over the years. Those rich experiences will never be forgotten. God bless as you move forward to the next chapter of your life.

Dear Brad:

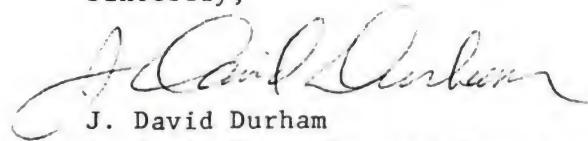

Congratulations on your upcoming retirement. What will the deans do without your wit, your clear thinking, and your direct approach to problem-solving? We'll all miss you—that I'm sure of. Even though you may be physically absent from our midst, your legacy will remain. More than anyone else I can think of you have left your mark on community college education in Mississippi.

And a fine mark it is! You are truly the "Dean of Deans." In my relatively brief 21 years at Hinds I have witnessed several landmark innovations in community college education, attributed wholly or in part to your leadership. Among these are the Uniform Course Numbering System and the Uniform Core Curriculum. I'm sure there are others that predate my time here or of which I'm not aware. And, of course, your strong leadership at ECCC has helped make it the fine institution it is today.

But after thirty years of shouldering the responsibility of the office, you are certainly entitled to pass the baton and to enjoy a long retirement. And that's what I wish for you. Fire up the tractor, till the soil, and do the other things the rest of us wish we had time to do. And teach a little on the side. I'm sure Dr. Smith would welcome your occasional presence in the classroom.

Again, congratulations, Brad, and may God bless you.

Dear Dr. Tucker:

As you retire as the Dean of Instruction at East Central Community College, no one can refute that you have earned your retirement and a place to lie in the sun. However, one will readily be aware of the absence of your profound expertise and guidance in the arena of higher education.

In retrospect, teaching at Benton High School, Newton County Agricultural High School, and East Central Community College was rewarding to you and your students. Teaching was rewarding to you because you did something significant for students and found satisfaction from students growth. Teaching was rewarding to your students because they received irreplaceable knowledge and understanding through your teaching.

As an Administrator at East Central Community College, your stay and work are profoundly documented in three decades of dedicated service to humanity.

As you retire, there will be a real and palpable loss to East Central Community College and the Mississippi Public Community and Junior College Academic Deans' Association.

May your retirement be filled with sparkling days of joy and happiness.

I understand you plan to officially retire on May 17, 1991. Perhaps you should rethink this decision. The Academic Deans' Association may want to put you on retainer as a full-time consultant!

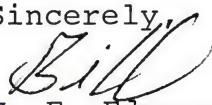

I do want to take this opportunity to congratulate you for your many years of service to the students of East Central Community College and indirectly, to all the students of Mississippi's Community-Junior Colleges. Your work, particularly on standardizing the curriculum of our colleges, is a high water mark in our history.

Brad, you have consistently been a source of wisdom and knowledge for the Academic Deans in the state and I hope you continue to make yourself available to us. The future is bright for Mississippi's community-junior colleges and we can thank you for playing a major role in making this possible.

It is true that the only thing that always remains the same is "change". As our community-junior college system continues to grow and change we will, without doubt, go amiss if we do not look back to the early days of our system. Perhaps you can write your memoirs to share with us so that we don't overlook some of our early history.

I do wish for you and your wife a long and enjoyable retirement. This will give you some time to travel so we will be looking for you to pay us a visit up here at Itawamba Community College.

God bless and keep you for many years to come.

Dear Brad:

Learning of your planned retirement, I find myself with mixed emotions. I feel joy in knowing that you will have many good years to spend doing things you want to do. I also feel sadness in realizing that the community colleges of our state will lose the leadership of the "Dean of Deans." You have been a positive force in building the reputation of not only East Central but of all Mississippi's community colleges.

May the years ahead bring you happiness, fulfillment and contentment. I will certainly miss you.

Sincerely,

Dear Dean Tucker:

I have learned of your plans to retire from East Central Community College, and I wish to thank you for your contributions to higher education and to wish you the best in your years of retirement.

I very much appreciate your long-term dedication to education in your home state. I know, in particular, of your recent leadership in the establishment of core curricula which might be used by community college students throughout the state as they prepare to transfer to any of the eight senior institutions. As I am sure you know, your colleagues in community college education regard you as the dean of deans, and I can understand their high regard for you and your leadership. We are all grateful to you.

I hope that you will now have time to do some of the things you have not been able to do because of your exacting schedule. If your travels bring you up to the northern part of the state, please drop by.

Thank you again for your many contributions.

Sincerely,

Dear Dr. Tucker:

Congratulation on your retirement as Dean of Instruction at East Central Community College.

Over the past 30 years higher education has experienced many dramatic changes. In some cases the material that we teach is the same, but the techniques and technology of instruction have certainly changed dramatically. Not only have the methods that we used changed but so have the expectations of the faculty and students. Faculty policies in terms of governance are certainly different today than they were when you began your career in 1961.

You are to be commended for maintaining your leadership position and your very positive influence for 30 years. There are very few people who could continue to contribute in such an important position as you have held for so long a period of time.

Congratulations and good luck in your retirement.

Sincerely,

Dear Brad:

From one square countian to another, sincere congratulations on your retirement as Dean of our Alma Mater.

Thank you for your contributions and dedication to the school that has made a difference in the lives of so many people who have passed through its halls. Considering the fact that you now join an elite group (including Todd, Newsome, Sullivan, Cross, Harris, Burton, and others) of true educators who helped insure East Central's rightful place in the scheme of human progress, you should now enjoy those things that somehow had to be postponed for other things.

Sincerely,

Fred Ray Blocker

P.S. I'm sure your experiences will help in mastering all the available degrees in the "art of Grand-Mathering."

Dear Dr. Tucker,

It is with mixed feelings I send this letter of congratulations today. Mixed because East Central Community College is losing a valuable and very respected educator.

As a native Leake Countian like yourself, I know the role East Central plays in providing a quality yet affordable education to the people in our district, and how even more important that role becomes in today's tough economic times. I also know that it takes conscientious and effective educators and administrators to maintain and improve schools like East Central, and you have proven to be that and more.

I have maintained an active interest in East Central through the years; I attended and have two sons with degrees from there. I have maintained this interest on a personal basis and through my time on the Board of Trustees and in all conversations regarding East Central your name has always been well spoked of and respected. I am sure that you are one of the reasons East Central Community College is the fine school it is today. I can only hope your successor will continue the outstanding work you have done for the college the past 37 years.

Again, congratulations, and thank you for a job very well done.

Sincerely,

Ide B. Dickens, Jr.

Dear Dr. Tucker,

I take pleasure in congratulating you on your retirement from "active duty" in the teaching and education management fields of endeavor. On the other hand, I, along with a lot of other people, am a bit saddened over the loss of your experience and expertise in administering to the needs and accomplishments of East Central Community College. The individual that is selected to replace you as Dean of Instruction will certainly be a busy person in keeping pace with and upholding the ideas and ideals that have been established and carried out by you over the years.

Thanks for all you have done for and meant to the East Central community. I hope that you can maintain good health and have many, many productive and enjoyable years of retirement. Additionally, I would like to present to you my personal "YOU DONE GOOD" award.

Sincerely,

Dear Dr. Tucker,

I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate you on an outstanding career at East Central Community College. There have been many changes during your tenure and you've helped the college grow and improve. You have been a stabilizing factor during administrative changes.

I think one of your outstanding accomplishments was the work you did in standardizing the curriculum and numbering of courses to coordinate the two-year colleges with the Senior Colleges.

Again congratulations and best wishes for a happy and joyous retirement.

Dear Dr. Tucker:

I have had the pleasure of working with you for only a very short time. Because of the type personality you have, it seems that we have worked together and have been friends for much longer.

I thank you for all the years of service you have given the college. Under your leadership and direction, we have made many improvements and your work will be missed.

As you leave our college to work in other areas, (I did not say retire, because people of your quality never retire) I wish you the best of luck. I will miss you because I don't know if I can take care of V.C. at lunch and also, if I drink another person's tea, they might get mad.

Dear Dr. Tucker; (Brad)

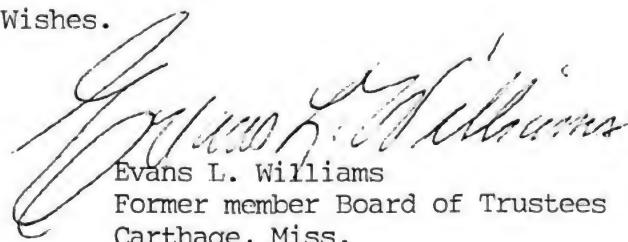

I read with mixed emotions the announcement of your pending retirement. Mixed, because I am enjoying my retirement as I know you will enjoy yours, sad because your retirement will break the continuity of your service to the youth of this area.

During my two separate appointments to the Board of Trustees, spaced some fourteen years apart, you were the one person in the administration serving continuously. Also since you hail from the "Square County" I felt a kinship to my fellow Leake Countian.

Your tenure as Dean of Instruction for thirty years is a record that will be hard to equal and your devotion to the students who have attended East Central Junior and Community College will never be surpassed. I wish for you a long and happy retirement but urge you not to become so inactive that you will be bored.

The growth and influence of East Central Community College in the State of Mississippi is due to the dedication and hard work of the underpaid faculty and administrators like you who have served so long and faithfully.

Congratulations and Best Wishes.

Re: Retirement

Dear Dr. Tucker:

My wife, Frances and I would like to wish you much enjoyment and happiness in your retirement years. You have been an outstanding member of the staff of East Central Community College for 37 years. Your distinguished record of service as an outstanding educator will long stand as a model for others to emulate.

As a member of the Board of East Central Community College, and as a former student of the College, having attended in 1941, I want to express to you my personal appreciation for your dedication and professionalism in providing guidance and supervision to the many thousands of students who have passed through this institution under your tutelage. You are an outstanding educator, an outstanding individual, and a person whose presence at East Central Community College shall be deeply missed. I hope that you will continue to be actively involved in the development and improvement of services offered by this institution. You have many friends at East Central Community College and throughout the community served by this community college district. I hope that you will keep in contact with your many friends and let us know of your many activities in your retirement years.

If there is anything that I can do as a member of the East Central Community College Board or as your personal friend, you only have to call upon me. I value and appreciate your dedication and friendship. With warmest personal regards, I am,

Sincerely yours,

Dear Dr. Tucker:

YOU WILL BE MISSED AT EAST CENTRAL.

As I began to think about all you have contributed to East Central Community College during your long and dedicated career, I wished for the expertise to express myself as Mr. Vickers could easily have done.

You, your lovely wife, Mary, and beautiful daughter, Beth, help make my two wonderful years at East Central complete. I wonder if Beth remembers the many days at cheerleader practice when she was our mascot and shadow. I was not one to enjoy the company of small children, so you can be sure that this is out of the ordinary for me to say that the times I babysat with Beth were delightful. Congratulations to your family on the two special grandchildren you now enjoy and the gratifying profession Beth chose to become a nurse.

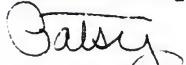

You are one of the most dedicated people in the educational field and the progress East Central has made during your career proves your outstanding leadership ability.

It takes a talent to be a friend to a student and at the same time demand the discipline and authority your job required.

I will always remember your smile, wit and ability to bring out the best in everyone.

Good luck in the future.

Dear Dr. Tucker:

Oh, how the years have passed since the years of 1956-58 at East Central Junior College. Now I want to thank you as I congradulate you upon your retirement.

I often joke about my becoming a student of yours. I came to East Central Community College on the morning of registeration in the fall of 1956. I still wasn't sure if I wanted to go to college or not. In the registration line I was asked what I wanted to study. In reply, I said agriculture. I thought being raised on a farm I knew a little about agriculture. The next two years in your classes taught me how little I did know about agriculture.

Again I say thank you for not only being an instructor, but a friend.

I know that you had a great influence, not only on me, but many other students majoring in Agriculture at East Central.

Your many years of service as Dean of Instruction is to be commended and is a testimony to the great contributions you have made to East Central Community College.

Reflecting back over the years brings many fond memories but none so vivid and heartwarming as those spent at East Central Junior College during 1953 and 1954.

During the time I took classes in your department, Agriculture, I felt that you were a strong disciplinarian, but always a nice and courteous person. It doesn't take one long, after maturing and facing the outside world, to grow to admire the type of discipline and respect demanded by past superiors. Thank you for those two years.

Congratulations and best wishes are surely in order for you. Your long tenure in the teaching profession certainly indicates the type of person you are - challenging, enduring, kind, generous and sensitive, to mention only a few.

I wish for you the best in your retirement. Maybe you will now have time to "stop and smell the roses".

Dear Brad:

Congratulations on your successful career as an educator at East Central Community College. You have served the college and its students well in many capacities. Your career has been marked by many accomplishments, and you have graced the field of education with intellect and reason.

I realize you are retiring as "Dean Bradford J. Tucker," but I relate more to you as the young agriculture teacher during my days at East Central. I recall very clearly how, at the death of Mr. Palmer, you assumed the position of ag leader for the college. If I were to make a list of the best professors I had at either East Central or Mississippi State, your name would be right up there at the top. You encouraged me to work hard as a student and to prepare myself well for my future career. In fact, you may not recall this, but you are responsible for my becoming an employee of the Soil Conservation Service, where I have now served for almost 35 years. It was through your encouragement and support that a group of students traveled with you to Meridian to take the Civil Service exam that later led to my career in SCS.

I will always be grateful to you as a professor, as a friend, and as one who encouraged me throughout the years. And as you begin this next stage of your life called "retirement," it is my sincere wish that it will be as successful and productive of the one you are now completing.

Dear Dr. Tucker:

I am happy to sincerely congratulate you on so many successful and rewarding years of service as Dean of Instruction at East Central Community College.

Whether you originally thought and planned for your professional career previous to your move from teacher to dean, the acquired knowledge of the school must have provided you with a preview of the duties and responsibilities of the new position.

I am aware that I have a limited knowledge of the broad scope of your field. However, I believe you have had a close bond of relationship with all the campus program, and public relations as well.

The varied and multiple changes in administration, faculty, students, and their goals for additional college training, no doubt kept you alert to valuable insights for renewals and changes helpful to the overall program.

May you be honored with gratitude and appreciation for your dedicated services, as many others, who also serve with distinction and determination to succeed.

Hopefully your retirement will be spent in a comfortable, quiet, restful, and happy time, filled with the enjoyment with your loved ones and friends.

Dear Brad:

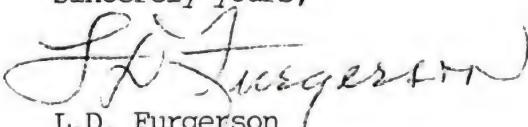

It is hard to believe that you have served as Dean of Instruction at East Central for thirty years until I stop to think of the date that I left to come to Mississippi State. I was pleased to have had the privilege of recommending your appointment as Dean to President Vincent. Time has proved his decision to have been good for East Central faculty and students and for higher education in your district and the state.

With the possible exception of only a few, you and I are the only ones aware of the attempts I made to stop your tenure at East Central by offering you employment at Mississippi State. Having been associated with you as a student and a high school and college teacher at East Central, I was very much aware of your potential as a school administrator because of your ability to lead others and organize and coordinate your work. I always found you to be a person willing to accept all assignment and attack them with vigor and thoroughness.

I consider it a pleasure and privilege to have had the opportunity to work with you during my time at East Central and the association we have had since that time. I also consider it a privilege to have you and Mary as friends and I wish you the very best in a well deserved retirement. I know that Mary will have to take early retirement if she plans to retire on or before May 17.

Dear Brad:

I am glad to learn that on May 17, 1991, you will reach another milestone in your life.

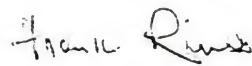

Brad, I commend you for your many accomplishments during your combined thirty-seven years of service as a faculty member and Dean of Instruction at East Central Community college.

It was a pleasure to work with you for thirty-three years, nine as a faculty member and twenty-four as an administrator. Your encouragement and advice during those years meant so much in helping me better serve East Central Community College. I always enjoyed attending conferences off campus with you present. Many instances stand out in my mind as I write this letter such as the time a person approached us for a quick sale of diamonds in Atlanta and we didn't buy.

It is a certainty that East Central Community College has been blessed by your devoted service over the years.

I hope that your retirement will be long and enjoyable.

Sincerely,

Dear Dean

We extend heartfelt congratulations to you upon this honored occasion in your life.

In our years of teaching with you, we observed your professional skills, your loyalty to the college, and your dedication to your office. You always allowed us academic freedom and encouraged creativity and innovation in our teaching.

We hope that your retirement will be as rewarding as your career has been productive.

In addition, we wish for you

Enough work to give you satisfaction
Then rest to appreciate its restoration
And trouble enought to keep you dependent on our Lord
But bounteous joy to share with the grandchildren
A few problems to challenge your mind
And contentment sufficient to give you peace
A sense of worth to continue active
And faith to live each day confidently

Sincerely

Dear Brad:

Congratulations on your upcoming retirement. As one who is near completing five years of retirement, I can say that retired life is thoroughly enjoyable.

During your long tenure you have witnessed the many changes that occurred to make East Central Community College into an outstanding academic, technical, and vocational complex with emphasis on the entire community. East Central boasts of having one of the best physical plants in the state. You as well as all of us can truly be proud of the accomplishments of East Central Community College during these productive years.

Again, I extend congratulations and wish you the best.

Dear Dr. Tucker:

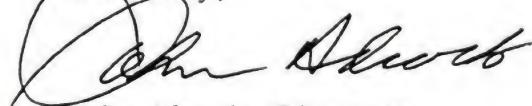

You are to be commended for your outstanding educational achievements. Your educational background, experience and training are exceptional.

However, I assert there are other reasons for your exceptional accomplishments. One, you exhibit a youthful enthusiasm for your work, which is contagious and permeates those around you. Two, your even temperament has allowed you to serve East Central for forty years providing stability in times of transition. Three, your interest in and concern for people is genuine and constant. Fourth, your work ethic, which was fostered on a farm in rural Leake County, is an inspiration to us all. Fifth and foremost, you have always strived to bring honor and prestige to East Central Community College and not to yourself. These individual traits are not uncommon; most people possess one or two of them. However, it is rare to find an individual like yourself that possesses all five of them.

If you were an athlete, you would be a MVP, most valuable player. You are a most valuable person to East Central Community College, and your leadership, enthusiasm, concern for people, work ethic, and love for East Central will be missed.

God bless you in your retirement.

Sincerely,

Dear Brad,

When I finished my graduate degree in January, 1961 at Mississippi State University, I began to look for a job. East Central Junior College was the second place I stopped in my quest since Arno Vincent, the President of the institution, was a friend of my Dad. My first sight of you came when the two of you finished a conference and he came out of his office to find me waiting to see him. "Well, Richard Ethridge! What on earth, boy. The last time I saw you, you were a snotty nosed little rascal a runnin' round barefooted," he said. Then he introduced me to you and you turned red, grinned sheepishly, said a few things and left. Later that day, Vincent hired me (pending Board approval) to teach school at ECJC the next regular session. He later introduced me to Lynn Ferguson, the Dean then, and we got our plans together on my next year's schedule.

Lo and behold, when I returned to teach in September, you were the Dean. What a devil of a fix, I thought after my unusual introduction to you from Vincent. It really didn't matter too much, though. Soon I learned that you were a country boy as well--an intelligent, quiet, bookish-type country boy, but a country boy. I can still see the crew cut and tight red skin you had then. The erect bearing and the resolute and determined look I still remember. All these qualities have carried you a long way. I outlined my opinion and view of you already in another document you have a copy of so I'll not repeat it here. You know what I think of you. We have come a good distance down the road together, had some mutual experiences that were trying and not so trying, and had some good times. We've been across the street and down the street neighbors for longer than I care to remember. Beth always seemed like one of mine and I always loved your dear wife, Mary, too. What else can I say? I'm going to miss you at ECCC, but I'm glad you'll still be just down the street.

The best is yet to come, old friend. Have a good time in retirement. Catch some fish. Kill some birds, squirrels, deer, or whatever. Drink a little wine "for the sake of your stomach." Play with your farm, cattle, and timber, and get some rest when you want to. You deserve it. May God be as gracious and merciful to you as He's ever been to anyone. May you live to a ripe old age, and when your time comes, may you be in Heaven two hours before the Devil knows you are dead!

I appreciate you,

Dear Dr. Tucker:

Congratulations on your retirement from East Central Community College after having served the institution for thirty-seven years. It has been through your efforts and visionary abilities that the institution has grown to become the East Central that we all know and love - an outstanding community college.

Thank you for the opportunity to become a part of East Central. It was Dr. Doug Montgomery and yourself who came to Mississippi State University and offered me employment in mathematics at East Central in the summer of 1963; a move for which I am eternally grateful. My opportunities have been numerous thanks to your vision and guidance through the years.

Again, congratulations on your retirement. The very best to you in your future endeavors.

Dr. Brad Tucker, Dean of Academics
East Central Community College
Decatur, MS 39327

Dear Dr. Tucker:

For the majority of the thirty-six years that I have been a member of the faculty at East Central Community College, you have been the Dean. And now you have decided to retire, although I am sure the college would be happy to have you continue in your present position. It will be difficult to think of East Central without you as its Dean.

You have, through your leadership, your counsel, and your friendship, made my years here enjoyable. I have seen the college grow from the continuation of a high school into a full-fledged institution of higher learning. That growth in no small part has been due to your efforts as Dean.

You have meant a great deal to Carol and me, more than just as the Dean of the college where we taught. The only real dates we had during our courtship were when you and Mary loaned us that Ford Fairlane to go to Meridian. We have always known that you and Mary were there if we needed your assistance for any reason.

I know that your connection to East Central goes back to the day you entered college here. Whatever East Central gave to you, you have given back tenfold. It is my sincere wish that those in the future who graduate and return to work here will be as dedicated as you have been.

If your Grandmother and Grandfather Jolly were alive, I would like to tell them what a fine man you turned out to be and how those of us at East Central feel about your work here. You have always been a credit to your family, to Leake County, to East Central, and to the State of Mississippi.

Yours sincerely,

Ovid Vickers

Dear Dr. Tucker,

What will I do without you to ask advice? I'll probably do some very stupid things! It is so comforting to know that when I have professional problems your reasonable advice is only a phone-call away.

You personify, to me, all that East Central represents: scholarship, exemplary character, and discipline. I cannot help but wonder if East Central will be the same without you, if it will continue to be the kind of school of which I have been so proud to be a part for twenty-two years.

Although we have not always agreed, you have been right 99 percent of the time. Your stabilizing influence has helped me and so many other beginning teachers to know the true meaning of professionalism. Your insistence on strength in academics has fortified me when I have been tempted to say: "What's the use? It will be so much easier to slack up."

Knowing that the door to your office was always open helped to make my years at East Central so much easier. Perhaps, you knew that what I needed was to rant and rave and get whatever perceived injustice out of my system; then I would try to do what was best for East Central, my profession, and myself.

You have helped to make me a better teacher, a better employee, and a better person. And, you have made East Central a much better place for your having been there. I would say, "Please stay a while longer," but I know that even for those as dedicated to the college as you are, there should be a much deserved rest. However, I know you won't rest. You'll work at one thing or another because that's the way you are. Thank you. I'll miss you. But please, if I have a problem, may I pick up the phone and ask for your sage advice?

Sincerely,

Carrie Ann Alford

Dear Dr. Tucker,

Congratulations upon your retirement.

I have fond memories of your sociology class. Those ten-question, true/false pop quizzes certainly made us read the lesson. You always told us that if we could miss all ten questions you would give us a 100. I never was brave enough to try, but now I just might be bold (foolhardy?) enough to do so.

I still have the letter you wrote me after graduation acknowledging that my grade point average was next in line to the 4.0's. It meant a lot to me at the time--and still does.

As Dean you have always been understanding, kind, and considerate whenever I have had a problem. For this I am grateful.

Once again I wish you the best.

I consider an honor to have had the opportunity to work at East Central during some of the years that you served as Dean of Instruction in this Institution of higher knowledge.

Dear Dr. Tucker,

I consider myself very fortunate to have had the opportunity to work with you. Regardless of the situation, you have always listened to me with patience and given me advice and guidance with an insight that could come only from someone who truly cares about each individual with whom they work. Your personal traits of humility, patience, and dedication have given me a standard by which to pattern my own life. Sometimes one can either like or respect the individual in authority to whom they are responsible. Because of you, I can do both. I deeply appreciate all that you have done for me both as a student at East Central and as a member of the staff here.

It is my sincere wish for you that you will enjoy your retirement. I hope that you will think of us often enough to remember that without your presence at East Central, we would not be as effective as we are today but not so often that you let us interfere with your fun!

Sincerely,

Ann Burke

Dear Dr. Tucker,

I know you must have mixed feelings about closing out a long career with East Central Community College. You can always look back to see the many good things that you have accomplished over the years and the many friends that you have made, both students and staff.

Ruth and I have always considered you and Mary as friends. I really appreciate the advice and support that you have given me over the years. I probably did not think some of it was good at the time, but as usual, you would be right.

I know that you are pleased that the Vo-Tech building will be named in your honor. This will be a lasting memorial for a deserving administrator.

A word of advice -- get up early each day and go to the farm before Mary gets up and outlines your work for the day!

I wish for you the best in retirement.

Dear Dr. T

I have put this off as long as possible thinking that you might change your mind. The purchase of the fishing equipment is quite convincing though.

It has been a privilege for me to count you as a friend over the years. I am aware of more than one situation that you were very much on my side when I needed a friend. For this I am most grateful.

In 1953 as a student I remember you as an agriculture instructor. I think everyone thought of you as being friendly and fair. These characteristics along with honesty, integrity, and all the good traits I cannot enumerate, we still recognize.

However, sometimes I'm not real sure in the game of dominoes. I believe while Dr. E is holding the domino and explaining a situation, the two of you could be giving signals. The Dr's might be taking advantage of the dummy.

I am so pleased that the Vo-Tech building will wear your name. The building itself cannot realize the honor bestowed upon it but we that know you personally understand how proud it should wear its name.

Thanks for the many understanding moments at work and at play. I truly thank God for men like you.

Best wishes in all your endeavors.

Dear Dr. Tucker,

In a few short months, Dr. Bradford J. Tucker will walk out the doors of East Central Community College. When you do, however, you will not leave the college unattended. With you will march the accumulated memories of forty-two years as student, faculty member, and administrator - years filled with laughter and with tears; with comfort and with hardships; with pleasure and with pain.

That is inevitable, yet it is not the most important thing to us, your fellow educators, colleagues, and friends. Rather what is important is that we have had the privilege of knowing someone whose presence will linger long after you have left. You exemplify the professional educator at his best. The people associated with you could not help but benefit from your drive, your energy, and your sense of humor which have carried us through the darkest of times.

No one can deny that you have earned your retirement, and there is no one who is not delighted that you will finally be getting some time for yourself. At the same time, there is no one who does not also realize that when you leave the Administration Building, there will occur a very real and palpable loss to this college, that a part of what has made East Central great will have gone from us; that we will somehow be the less for your absence.

I will miss you Dr. Tucker. You have been a tremendous help to me in my position as Director of Adult and Continuing Education. I am honored that I have had the pleasure of being associated with you on a professional level; and I am overjoyed that I can call you a friend.

May your retirement be filled with the sparkling and golden days you so richly deserve. Time to spend with family and friends, time to try out that new fishing boat, and time to do whatever you please.

June 30, 1991, will be a day that will evoke mixed emotions for me: sadness because it will mark the end of your career at East Central, but happiness because you will begin to enjoy that long-awaited retirement.

Since returning to East Central in 1972 to teach in the Computer Technology program, I have dialed extension 202 many times seeking an answer to a problem. Invariably, because of your knowledge and expertise, you were always willing and able to provide the solution. It has been reassuring to me to know that there was one person on campus who could be counted upon for assistance regardless of the problem.

Dear Dr. Tucker:

I want to congratulate you on your many years of service to East Central Community College. When I came to East Central as a coach/psychology instructor and later returned as the academic counselor, the guidance you provided certainly helped me to grow into these positions. Your ability to professionally manage confrontation and conflict is impressive. I'm sure you had many opportunities to become vengeful and negative, but these qualities were never revealed in any of your professional activities.

On the other hand, it's a bit disturbing to me that I'm working with a superior who has a building named after him. I thought legends like yourself were supposed to be dead before this occurred. Pertaining to your longevity, I have to thank you for your assistance in my doctoral work related to the history of Mississippi Community Colleges. Dean of Instruction
Decatur, MS 39327

Dear Dr. Tucker,

Congratulations on your retirement!

Although I have only been a member of the East Central Community College staff a few years, I can honestly say it is very evident that no one has shown more dedication and hard work on behalf of East Central than you, Dr. Tucker.

It is very obvious that you love East Central and all its "family" members. I know you consistently serve the college "beyond the call of duty" and for that reason, I am very pleased that the Board of Trustees has agreed to name the vocational-technical building in your honor.

The Bradford J. Tucker Applied Technology Center will be a lasting monument to someone who, for many years, has been regarded as the "Dean of Deans" among colleges and universities in the State of Mississippi. The naming of the vo-tech complex is also a fitting tribute for the 40 years you have served on the East Central campus.

On a more personal note, I would like to thank you and the other committee members who selected me as the college's public information director.

I will always be grateful for the opportunity you and the others gave me to "re-enter" the public relations field. Also, I am very appreciative of the support you have provided me over the past four years. You have always been very complimentary of my work and I am very thankful for all you have done for me.

Again congratulations on your retirement.

I hope the fish are always bittin' (when you want them to) and the farmwork and yard duties will be kept at a minimum (when you also want them to).

Best wishes to you and your family.

Sincerely,

Bubby Johnston
Public Information Director

Dear Dr. Tucker,

Dr. Tucker, Congratulations, upon your well-deserved retirement after so many years of service to East Central Community College.

Because of your excellent administrative leadership abilities and your dedication to the faculty and students, East Central has excelled during your years of service.

I have enjoyed working with you the past two years and wish you many happy years of retirement.

Best wishes,

Dear Dr. Tucker:

Congratulations on your approaching retirement. I will remember the "Dean of Deans" as the one who encouraged all of us to strive to reach our fullest potential. The example you have set will continue to encourage myself and others.

Thank you for the leadership and guidance you have provided for East Central. As a former student and instructor I know your work has been and will continue to be a guiding light for us.

May God's richest blessings be with you and your family.

Dear Dr. Tucker,

We would like to congratulate you on your forty years of service to East Central! More than that, we would like to thank you for your contributions to the school and to those with whom you have worked. You have been one of the main reasons for the progress that ECCC has made during this time.

We would also like to thank you for what you have meant to us personally during the years we have worked with you. We have found you always to be a very congenial person with whom to work, and we appreciate the support you have given us in every situation. Your friendship will always be valued.

We send our best wishes to you for a fulfilling life as you retire. May you enjoy many years of good health, rewarding activities, and family fellowship.

With our best wishes,

Dear Dr. Tucker:

Congratulations upon reaching a well-deserved milestone in your life. Since you have spent the majority of your life serving others, now it's time for you to enjoy doing things for yourself.

Dr. Tucker, when I think of you, I think of the gentlemanly professional manner that you have always exemplified in your working with me as I conducted my day-to-day school activities. You have made me feel free to contact you with the least problem as well as the bigger ones. Even as busy as you might have been, you always had the time for an answer.

I can sincerely say that I have enjoyed working with you and wish you the best as you enjoy your retirement years.

Sincerely,

Dear Dr. Tucker,

Congratulations to you on your retirement from E.C. Your guidance and encouragement has meant so much to so many.

We wish for you the very best as you now will have a chance to enjoy your hobbies. Maybe, too, you'll find time to do all those things you've been wanting to do --- but didn't have time.

We want you to know, too, how much your friendship meant to us when Ken "lost-out" at E.C. The next school year was especially hard and "awkward" for me but you helped me to "make-out" the year.

Again - Congratulations and thanks for all you've done to make E.C. what it today --- an outstanding academic school.

Sincerely,
Alice Penney

Dear Dr. Tucker:

I would like to extend my congratulations to you on this momentous occasion.

Although I have worked for you only 9 years, I have seen in that time your dedication to East Central Community College. Your hard work, loyalty, and dedication will long be remembered.

I wish for you the very best. I know your grandchildren will be excited that you can spend more time with them. While you are fishing and farming on beautiful days you can think back on those of us left behind to carry on the work at East Central.

Again, congratulations and best wishes to you on your retirement.

Dear Dr. Tucker:

I was a high school student during your first years of employment as our high school agriculture teacher. I would like to express my appreciation for the many hours you spent in helping to mold my life.

East Central Community College and its students have been very fortunate to have had the educational leadership you have provided. The former students and those presently enrolled will continue to benefit, for many years to come, from your expertise and leadership.

I, along with my family, will always cherish the friendship that our families have enjoyed through the years. It was such a pleasure to watch the children grow up together. I have many fond memories of the ballgames and cookouts that we enjoyed together.

Dr. Tucker, thank you for your many years of dedication and hard work. I wish you good luck as you begin your new endeavors.

Sincerely,

Clinton Russell

Dear Dr. Tucker:

It has been both a privilege and a pleasure to work for you and with you at East Central Community College. It is hard for me to think about coming to work and not finding you in your office. You know I have always counted on you being there to answer questions no one else could answer and to give me advise on how to handle a particular problem or situation at the college.

Dr. Tucker, from you I learned about professionalism. That is, being dedicated to the institution or agency that you work for, being objective even though personalities sometimes get involved, and about being loyal to the institution or agency that you work for even though you may not always agree with all of the policies.

East Central Community College will miss you Dr. Tucker, and I will miss you too!

Again, it has been a pleasure working with you at East Central. And, as you retire, I wish for you a long, healthy, and happy retirement.

Sincerely,

Lee Ann Scoggin

Dear Dr. Tucker,

I wish to extend to you my sincere and profound congratulations upon your retirement from service to East Central. Your professional longevity and growth will long stand as models and inspiration for all members of the faculty, staff, and administration at the college. I feel confident in my belief that you have played a vital role in the life of the college and the community. I am equally confident that all persons affiliated with East Central will greatly miss your guidance. A very special person will be required to fill the vacancy created by your absence.

Thank you for all of the support that you have given me during my two years at East Central. I always felt free to approach you in order to discuss ideas or problems, and you always responded in a concerned, forthright, and informed manner.

I genuinely hope that your retirement proves as enriching and rewarding to you as your career has been.

Sincerely,

Dear Dr. Tucker:

Thanks for the memories! Our association over the past three years has been a short one, but one which I will always remember. It is not often that one gets to work with a legend.

My most prized memories are your recollections of the history of the Mississippi community college system and East Central in particular. Perhaps you will write your memoirs or at least a history of East Central which will record the early development of the college.

I wish you the best in your retirement. You will probably have more to do than before you retired. The farm and your yard will keep you busy enough.

We all hope that retirement will not keep you off campus. Maybe you won't need to go to all of the away games, but we will expect to see you at the home games. Also, there will be many other activities on campus where we will look for you.

Again, thanks for all the help and advice you have given me.

Sincerely yours,

Dr. Brad Tucker;

Thirty years ago next August, I arrived on the campus of East Central "Junior College", seeking my first employment in the field of education.

I believe I was very fortunate in that one of the first people I met was Dr. Brad Tucker. I was most fortunate to begin my career under the "Dean of Deans" of the Mississippi Junior/Community College system.

What little success I may have had as an instructor is due to your leadership, encouragement, and example. The high standards of professionalism you have set for yourself, and demanded of those working under you have greatly contributed to the reputation of academic excellance and professionalism currently enjoyed by East Central Community College.

For these and many other reasons, there is no one more deserving than you of having the Vocational center named for them. To me, this honor is nothing more than the highly deserved public recognition of your contributions to East Central Community College and the Community Junior College system of Mississippi.

Apart from our professional relationship, there is the equally treasured personal relationship. The fishing trips, the dominoe games, and even an unsuccessful duck hunting expedition have all been a pleasure.

You have provided me with an irreplaceable professional learning experience and the personal enjoyment of your friendship. What more could one ask ?

I hope your retirement will be long and leisurely, allowing you to do all the things which will bring you enjoyment.

With appreciation and sincerity,

Tommy Thrash

Dear Dr. Tucker:

It is difficult to imagine East Central without you, especially since you are the person who is responsible for my being here. Some of my fondest memories are of working with Mary in the office when Ovid and I first married. I'm sure she covered up for a lot of my mistakes, and I appreciate that. We also had some good times together while we survived two business managers and two presidents. Come to think of it, we might have been part of the reason they didn't stay!

I know that you are anticipating your retirement while at the same time being somewhat nostalgic about leaving. Please know that you will be greatly missed and that your contributions to the development of East Central will remain as reminders long after you have retired.

Sincerely,

Carol Vickers

Dear Dr. Tucker:

Congratulations on your retirement! After attaining many achievements and awards during a lifetime of service to East Central, you are certainly entering into a well deserved retirement.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for the strong support you have given the library as well as the confidence in and kindness to me during my sixteen year tenure at East Central. East Central has been strengthened through your efforts and guidance. Even though I cannot imagine an East Central without you, I know your influence will have a lasting effect.

As you look forward to all those fun things you plan to do, remember you will still have check-out privileges at the library. Best wishes for the future.

May God Bless,

Gail Wood
